Accelerate Your Supply Chain

Your products aren't worth anything until they're on a retail shelf or a consumer's doorstep. At Weber, it's our job to get these products to market faster.

To do that, we combine drayage, warehousing and final delivery services for an integrated distribution solution that's easy for you to source and manage. Result: you shrink your cash cycle and focus on your core business, while your Weber team handles all the logistics details – from port to market.

Since 1924, consumer goods companies and importers have relied on Weber to be their go-to logistics provider on the West Coast.

Strategic Distribution Locations Up and Down the West Coast

Weber's 15 strategically located California distribution centers are located minutes from some of America's busiest port complexes and in the heart of the country's largest consumer market.

No other 3PL – global or regional – can match Weber's market knowledge and distribution infrastructure on the West Coast.

Our transportation service centers are home to Weber's fleet of dry and temperature-controlled trucks. From these locations, we provide a region-wide delivery solution that few can match, including next-day service to 50 million consumers.

Port Services

Weber facilities sit in the shadow of America's largest port for imports. Our earned knowledge of port operations saves you time, money and headaches when getting imports to market.

Drayage

Transport products to and from West Coast ports quickly and reliably. Weber drayage services feature modern, low-emission trucks that serve the Ports of LA, Long Beach, San Diego and Oakland, as well as California rail systems.

Transloading

Get your products out of the port and out to market faster. Weber can unload 40-foot containers and consolidate products onto rail or OTR trailers for inland distribution. We can also receive products and ready them for export.

Deconsolidation

Transform your container shipments into individual orders at a nearby Weber warehouse, where we can unload, sort, palletize, shrink wrap and perform any value-added services needed. Shipments are then loaded for final delivery to you or your customer.

The Weber Way

In 1924, Karl Weber took a risk and entered the relatively new field of third party logistics, using the delivery fleet of his furniture business to handle commercial shipments. 90+ years later, that entrepreneurial spirit and commitment to excellence remain core cultural traits as Weber Logistics – still family owned – has become a premier provider of integrated logistics services on the West Coast.

On Logistics Solutions: We don't design a solution FOR you, we design it WITH you, working to jointly solve your specific problem.

On Logistics Operations: We expect to get it right every time. When we don't, we want to know why. Superior operations require a company-wide belief that every pick, every shipment, every delivery is an opportunity to do great work.

On Customer Satisfaction: If you need to tell us you're unhappy, our system has broken down. Weber's business is built around staying close to you, identifying concerns early and addressing them immediately.

“ There's no great secret to success as a 3PL. It comes down to blocking and tackling. Showing up every day and caring enough to get orders out the door accurately and on time – and then doing it all again the next day, just a little bit better. ”
